

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I take this opportunity to place on record my deep sense of gratitude to my teacher, Dr. G. Ram, Reader, Department of Sociology, Assam University, Silchar, whose continuous and painstaking guidance and help at every steps of the work has manifested in the present form of thesis.

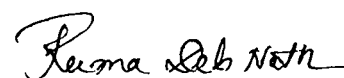

I express my sincere gratitude to Dr. V.P. Singh, Head of the Department of Sociology, for his kind co-operation.

The study took a long time to complete and my indebtedness to others kept growing all the while. I specially feel indebted to my friend, Miss Geeta Kalita, who helped me a lot during the fieldwork, and without her help it would have been very difficult for me to complete the work. I owe special thanks to Mrs. Anupoma Yadav, Mr. Raju Kairi, Mr. Rameswar Koiri and Mr. Bidya Tanti who helped me in various ways during the fieldwork and provided valuable information. I am also grateful to the respondents from the households of Dewan Tea Garden village, without their co-operation I could have never been able to see the thesis in the present form.

The unbounded and unfailing patience as well as financial sacrifice of my father-Mr Dinesh Ch. Deb Nath, my mother-Mrs. Runu Deb Nath and my two brothers-Dipak and Dibyendu, throughout the course of my study, make me feel indebted to them for ever in life.

Thanks are also due to the staff of Assam University Library and the staff of Dewan Tea Garden Office for their kind co-operation in collection of secondary and documentary data. Mr. Benu Kar of Silchar town, too, deserves thanks for typing of the manuscript on his computer.
