ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

At the very outset, I express my deep sense of gratitude to my supervisor Dr. Nirakar Mallick, Associate Professor, Department of Sociology, Assam University, Silchar. Without his constant encouragement, valuable guidance and academic help at every stage, the work would not have been possible. I am personally indebted to him forever.

I take the opportunity to express my profound gratitude to prof. G. Ram, Head, Department of Sociology, Assam University, Silchar, for his valuable suggestions. I also thank all the faculty members of the Department for helping me in my research by providing valuable inputs particularly during the periodic seminars.

My thanks are also due to my late father Sadhan Chandra Das, my mother late Rani Das, their constant encouragement to me during their lifetime for academic endeavours ultimately led to the fruition of this work. I fondly remember them at this juncture. I will be failing in my duty if I do not acknowledge endearing support and inspiration rendered by my mother-in-law, late Arati Kana Paul during perusal of work.

A special word of thanks to Mr. Tanuj Kumar Dey, Associate Professor, Department of English, Lala Rural College, for providing me with valuable feedback regarding the contents of my research work.

Words fail to acknowledge the unstinted support rendered by my wife Abha Paul during the perusal of the research work by making necessary marital adjustment. My special thanks to my little daughter Sneha (Mam) and son like Anik (Raja) who not only helped papa and mesho in making the tables of the research work but also rendered the much needed emotional inspiration.

I sincerely thank Suranjan Das, Nirmal Rajbanshi, Sarupana Rajbanshi, Sibabrata Sarma, Gour Das and Hitesh Ranjan Nath who have extended their helping hand in fieldwork and data entry. I am thankful to members of All Assam Koch-Rajbanshi Students Association who helped me to conduct fieldwork smoothly.

A word of gratitude to shri Atindra Malakar, LDA, Department of Sociology for helping me with the necessary official formalities.

I take the opportunity to thank A.Azim Choudhury, Proprietor, The Choudhury Printers, Silchar for taking care of all aspects relating to printing and binding of this research work.
