

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This thesis is a synthetic result of the contribution from many quarters. It is very difficult to name all the sources of inspiration. Moreover, words are often too weak mode of revealing one's sentiments and feelings of indebtedness. But there are some for whose help I am specially grateful.

I record my sincere thanks to my parents for their constant blessings, affection, persistent encouragement and co-operation throughout my academic exploration.

It is my pleasure to acknowledge my indebted gratitude to my teachers for providing me this opportunity.

I am unable to find words which could encompass the sincere and deep feelings of gratitude and thankfulness that I feel for my revered guides Prof. Gopalji Mishra and Dr. B.S. Gunjal, whose indispensable guidance, expert advice, valuable suggestions and incessant encouragement, made this work presentable. Without their inspiration this pursuit would have remained a dream only.

Thanks are expanded to my respondents concerned and key informants for their co-operation and help rendered to me in the administration of tests and collection of the relevant information. Thanks are also due to the students who accompanied me to the field during the course of investigation.

Thanks are due to my esteemed colleagues for their good counsel. I am thankful to all of them especially Prof. G. Ram, Dr. Asok Sarkar, Ms. Tineshowri Devi, Dr. Subhabrato Dutta, Mr. T. B. Sukai, Mr. Sanjoy Roy and Mr. Mrityunjay Singh who rendered timely assistance to me whenever solicited. I am also highly grateful to Dr. E. Kanakaraj, Department of Social Work, Mizoram University, Aizawl for giving his valuable suggestions to my work.

I am also grateful and with pleasure acknowledge the debt that I owe to the librarians of various universities in permitting the liberal use of their libraries.

I am also highly thankful to my beloved wife Himabindu for her assistance, encouragement and continuous support during the completion of this work. I am also grateful from the core of my heart to my daughter Asmita for putting up with the familial inconveniences.
