

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First of all, I would like to place my indebtedness and utmost sense of gratitude to my supervisor, Dr. Subhabrata Dutta, Reader, Department of Social Work, Assam University, Silchar for his enduring support, advice and encouragement. His guidance was invaluable and without his guidance this thesis would not have been possible. My deep regards and prayers are always with him.

I owe my deep sense of gratitude to Prof. Gopalji Mishra, Dean of Social Sciences who always encourages me to go ahead. I am indebted to him too.

Further, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to all the loving Ima's (Women Entrepreneurs) of Ima Market in Imphal, Manipur for their co-operation, willingness and patience to answer my set of questionnaire in between their busy schedules and to discuss and explain many of my questions.

I am very grateful to all the teaching, non-teaching staffs, friends (junior) and especially all the present Research Scholars of our Social Work Department, for their valuable guidance, suggestions, discussions, co-operation and help during the course of time. I owe my sincere thanks to Mr. Manash Pratim Kashyap, Research Scholar, Department of MBA, for his valuable help, sparing his busy schedules, during my data analysis through SPSS.

My utmost gratitude goes to my family members especially my parents who first drew my attention of doing Ph.D and who have always encourage and supported me during my life and especially during writing this thesis was invaluable. Without their co-operation, understanding, sacrifice, encouragement and support the completion of this thesis would not be practical. I am also fully indebted to my sweet sister and friend Ms. Linda Wairokpam, Research Scholar, Department of Linguistics, Assam University, for all her physical and mental support during the entire tenure of my research work.

My special gratitude goes to the Boss (es) and colleagues of Agri Business Department, State Bank of India, Local Head Office, Guwahati, for their support and suggestions rendered to me time to time. And also special thanks to my Boss (es) for granting me leave during my research work, without which I would not be able to complete my research work in time.

I would also like to take this opportunity to place my hearty thanks to all the people, whom I have missed out, for their valuable support and information which help me to complete my work through various stages.

Last, and most importantly, I should be thankful to God (Almighty) for his blessings, guidance, care and gift that endowed me with strength to finish my work on time without any harm and problem.

(Chongtham Chanchan)
Department of Social Work
Assam University, Silchar